A Happy Life.

A man who has married for love is a happy fellow. He is generally cheerful and always thinking about the dear ones at home. He pretends to live out of town for the sake of his children. He is rarely late at business, rises early, gardening a little, eats a hearty breakfast and goes to the necessary labor with a light heart and clean conscience. He often brings home pleasant surprise for his wife and children. You may recognize him in trains loaded with parcels, which he good-naturedly carries with perfect unconcern of what others think—a new bonnet, music, books, a cloak for his wife; while in another parcel the wheels of a cart, a jack-in-the box, a doll or skipping-rope protrude thru the paper, and suggest the nursery. He is brave and kind, though he makes no noise in the world. The humanizing influence of that darling red-cheeked little fellow who calls him father, brings a glow of rapture to the purest pleasure earth holds; for the man who has never felt a tiny hand clasp his will always lack something—he will be less human, less blessed than others. This is the noble, the honest, the only form of life that imparts real contentment and joy that will make a death-bed glorious, and love see peace through its tears. It is so purely unselfish, so tenderly true; it satisfies the highest instincts. It stimulates men to the best deeds they are capable of.

A Good Neighbor.

A Kansas man died recently and the local paper in giving the essential facts incident to his life, closed with this sentence, "He was a good neighbor." There the eulogy ended, abrupt and brief. Naturally in the little town there was some criticism. But why? They were used to extended obituary notices, replete with high-sounding phrases and tributes which represented probably what the editor thought was necessary to satisfy his readers rather than the innermost feeling of the writer. Commenting on the above an exchange strikes the nail firmly on the head when it says:

"Which is the better? There can be only one answer. What more could the departed desire than to have it said of him that he was a 'good neighbor.' Could anything be said of him that would bespeak for a certainty his possession for other attributes that naturally would endear him to his acquaintances? There is more contained in these simple and old-fashioned words than could be put into a lengthy memorial by the most skillful rhetorician who ever indicated a panegyric to personal worth. A man who has so lived that his neighbors will join in saying he was a 'good neighbor' may face the unknown firm in the belief that he has done well here."

What tribute more wholesome, effective and lasting could be chiseled on a granite shaft erected to the honor of any man than to say that he was a 'good neighbor.' Do you, Mr. Reader, so live that when your time shall come that those who have known you may join in such a token of respect, esteem and admiration?

OLYSSSES.

L. T. Davis is quite elated on account of the arrival of a fine boy at his house recently. He says it is another democrat and for short calls him W. W. Davis.

There will be a Sunday School Convention held here June 8th and 9th. So many good speakers on the program an interesting time is anticipated.

While the wet weather of last week has to some extent put farmers behind with their corn, the rains have greatly helped oats and potatoes, etc.

School teachers who have not yet secured schools are hustling around trying to find one not promised.

Nollie Pack's infant child was brought here from near Richardson and buried in the Kazee graveyard one week ago.

Our merchants, Robert Mead and A. J. Austin are doing a good business in their line of work.

Marion Reynolds and Herbert Borders have been making crosses ties for Robert Mead.

Mrs. Franklin Chandler has been quite ill, but is somewhat improved.

I for one appreciate the compliments of "Uncle Joe" in regard to the correspondents of the NEWS. A word of encouragement certainly helps even a news paper correspondent. Just as it doubtless would send good cheer to the heart of the editor if we would often say that we appreciate our home paper. Glad that "Uncle Joe," who is a newspaper man of experience has decided that our home county paper is the best in the state.

If a woman can keep her temper and her good looks she has no trouble keeping her husband.

The latest hint says the bustle is coming back into fashion. What are they going to do? Sew an annex into the rear of the hobble?

There is an awful scarcity of roses between the day a woman marries and the day they lay her out.

The "glory kiss" is nothing new. It was the first one you got from your sweetheart. And you tingled from toe to scalp and the music of the spheres rang in your ears while you inhaled the perfume of the wonderful girl before you. And you have a vague idea of how you went home but you knew that your feet did not touch the ground.

The female garment designers met at Toledo and decided on tighter skirts. It won't be long until a modest man will have to stay home and keep the blinds pulled down.

To a man all men are alike and all women different. To a woman all women are alike and all men different.

When a girl buys a pair of new shoes she always imagines the clerk is measuring her foot with a yardstick.

The old-fashioned girl who married a poor young man and lived on love in a cottage now has a daughter who marries into a furnished room where she can cook her curling irons on a gas jet and do her laundry on the window pane. Cincinnati Enquirer.

PLAYING IN HARD LUCK.

Editor Tom Garner, of the Williamson Daily News, wrote something about a Mingo-co. grand jury which the circuit judge thought he hadn't arter, and the aforesaid official promptly fined him $50 and costs.

Uncle Tom has this to say about it. What he thinks is another matter.

The publisher of this newspaper was brought before the Circuit Court this morning and after having delivered an opinion covering several pages of manuscript, the judge proceeded to impose a fine of $50, and costs—which will run up to we know not where.

If anybody should come along and confiscate this print shop it would relieve us of a great deal of trouble just about this time.

Garner is playing in hard luck. When he was an editor there some years ago he lost one of his legs. It wasn't a wooden one, either, and a short time ago a stray bullet fired from no one knows where, passed through his chin. Now if he doesn't pay the fifty he'll be sent to jail.

CATARRH IS EASY CURED!

Now here is a proposition I am making to all who suffer with Catarrh to prove to you that I have discovered a treatment that will positively cure catarrh, upon receipt of $5.00. I will mail to your address postpaid one Box and one Bottle of my Vegetable-Compound Catarrh Cure and if you don't say that it is the best treatment you ever used I will gladly refund your money. I will trust your honor not to ask for it unless you are entitled to it according to the terms of my proposition. Guaranteed by all dealers to cure or money refunded by manufacturer. Ask your druggist or General Merchant for Fitzpatrick's Catarrh Cure. If they don't keep it in stock and will not order it for you, send your order direct. In regard to my reliability refer you to the Louisa National Bank.

Do not delay, more lives are lost by procrastination delay, putting off till tomorrow or next week or next month the treatment of disease than have ever been lost in war. I earnestly hope to hear from every sufferer, enclosing the small sum of 50 cents for treatment. This amount has cured others, which I can prove by their testimonials acknowledge to before Notary Public. Don't neglect yourself as no doubt you are aware that Catarrh causes a general break down in health and may prepare the way for that dreadful disease consumption.
